Subject: Name Change for Vulcan Materials

Sarah:

As requested by Karyllan Mack, I am writing to explain the change in name from Vulcan Materials Company to Legacy Vulcan Corp.

On November 16, 2007, Vulcan Materials Company and Florida Rock Industries, Inc. completed a merger. To effectuate the merger, there were a series of corporate mergers that are described in detail in SEC filings. To summarize, a new holding/parent company was created to acquire, as subsidiaries, Vulcan Materials Company and Florida Rock Industries, Inc. Then the new parent/holding company was renamed Vulcan Materials Company and the old Vulcan Materials Company was renamed Legacy Vulcan Corp. Thus, Legacy Vulcan Corp. is the old Vulcan Materials Company and is the successor to that company.

If you have further questions, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Corinne A. Goldstein
